

SERMON Q's

Prayers of Praise
March 22, 2020
I Chronicles 29:10-19

1. What does it mean to “praise” God? Why should we praise more often than when we get particular good news?

2. Why is it so hard to praise God during hard times? Does praising God require denying or ignoring real grief, pain, or brokenness?

3. In what ways have the events of the past couple weeks reminded you of your need/weakness/dependence? How is that reality true even when health, finances, and friendships are strong?

4. What’s the most amazing thing about God to you? What is an aspect of his character that drives you to praise Him?

5. What have the last couple weeks with no in-person worship services revealed about your relationship with God? In what ways - even with good things - is it easy for us to fall into a religion of ritual rather than a relationship?

6. In what way do you feel you need a reset or reboot in your relationship with God? Who can you share with to pray with you for that?
